

SARAH DELYNN COX

WRITER • EDITOR

EMAIL SARAHDELYNN@ORU.EDU CELL (918) 289-5401 ADDRESS WALNUT CREEK, TULSA

PROFILE

My passion lies in the active pursuit of truth: as a communicator, I yearn to spread wisdom; as a public servant, I thrive to help people. I am a creative individual driven by curiosity and a thirst for knowledge. World travel has left an undeniable imprint on my personality and allows me to connect with all people, everywhere. After obtaining my M.A., I continually seek the opportunity to put my extensive writing skills to use, and to provide an exemplary learning experience that will last a lifetime.

ABILITIES

- Critical Thinking
- Communication
- Attention to Detail
- Influential Leadership
- Accurate Research
- Time Management
- Information Analysis
- Creative Problem Solving

PUBLICATIONS

- "An Interruption In Nature: The Edna Jean Horn Story." Presented at the 42nd annual conference of the Society for Pentecostal Studies in Seattle, WA, March 22, 2013.
- "Edna Jean Green Horn (1909-1984)." Heritage Magazine, 2013 annual edition.
- "IPHC Represented at SPS Conference." Experience Magazine, May 2013, pg. 9.
- "Archives Assistant Speaks at SPS Conference." Post date: April 11, 2013. <http://www.iphc.org/news/archives-assistant-speaks-sps-conference>

SKILLS

- Adobe InDesign
- Deadline Driven
- Training & Instruction
- Social Media & Blogging
- Adobe Premiere
- Writing & Editing
- Information Retrieval
- Ability to Quickly Adapt

VOCATIONAL IDENTITY

"Famously, Graham Greene proclaimed that an artist has the duty to embrace the 'virtue of disloyalty'—that is, the obligation to say "no" to any institution, church or state, that tries to impose restrictions on the creative imagination."—Mary R. Reinhardt, Encyclopedia of Catholic Literature, Vol. 1

EDUCATION

ROUTE Magazine:

Editorial Internship

Oral Roberts University:

M.A., Practical Theology

Oral Roberts University:

B.S., Liberal Arts

CONTINUING EDUCATION

Oral Roberts University:

Theological Historical Studies

University of Oklahoma:

M.L.I.S. Studies

Minneapolis College of Art & Design:

Painting, Photography